

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A refrigeration system comprises a display case having a viewing area with the first side and a second side. An air outlet on the first side guides air across the viewing area to an air inlet on the second side. A first fan and a second fan communicate with the air inlet. A volume extends between the air inlet and the first and second fans. The partition divides this volume between the first and second fan.

N:\Clients\CARRIER\IP00348\PATENT\Application 60,246-348.doc